

We need to have as much info and opinions as possible out there. Different companies consider different issues more important and will feature them differently. Just as we need diversity in the biosphere, we need it in our daily lives.